OEI

Who we are

We are a regional public good to the service of our community

Through competent knowledge production and thanks to our networks, we make real the compliance of public policies

The Organization of Ibero-American Sates for Education, Science and Culture (OEI) is, since 1949, the oldest intergovernmental organization for South-South cooperation in the Ibero-American space. It has the largest geographical presence: 19 national offices spread throughout the region and a General Secretariat, headquartered in Madrid. The OEI is composed of 23 member states, along with various observer countries and organizations.

OEI funding is based on mandatory and voluntary contributions from member state governments, as well as contributions to support specific projects from institutions, foundations and other bodies interested in improving quality education and the scientific and cultural development in Ibero-America.

A multiple committment through the whole OEI, with shared objectives: the integration and regional cohesion, the strengthening of our democracies and welfare of our communities.

What we do

	Education We run projects promoting education from early childhood to tertiary levels, education and vocational training (VET), and literacy for young people and adults. Some of our strategic approaches include: improving education, supporting digital transformation, fostering governance, developing teachers and promoting inclusive education.
	Science We support Ibero-American administrations in scientific and technological development. We also conduct analysis on the state of science in the region, while implementing scientific education and awareness programmes , and promoting knowledge generation and transfer.
	Culture The OEI promotes Ibero-American culture, focusing on its enormous richness and cultural diversity , promoting artistic education, supporting cultural and creative industries, and protecting digital culture and intellectual property rights, using the Ibero-American Cultural Charter as a guide.
	Languages In one of the world's most linguistically diverse regions, we are driving cooperation in Portuguese and Spanish, as well as the international promotion and spread of both languages. We also support the hundreds of native languages in the region through bilingual, inter-cultural and other experiences at cross-border schools.
	Human rights The Ibero-American Program on Human Rights, Democracy and Equality seeks to promote democratic institutions , solid and coherent with the commitments and processes that guarantee human rights and consolidate an empowered, responsible and democratic citizenry.

Ibero-American Institute of Training and Learning for Cooperation

Our added value is the experience and international recognition of the organization in the development of continuous training in its cooperative action. Our educational formats are interactive and support personalized, quality learning with a digital focus.

Ibero-American Institute of Education and Productivity

The Institute is presented as a space that allows strengthening the capacity for dialogue between companies and governments, all in a fundamental field for the future of the Ibero-american economies.

Advisory Board

In 2019 we created this group made up of around thirty recognized experts in education due to their institutional or academic career who provide an ad honorem important service to the OEI through its reports, qualified opinions and participation in similar events and activities.

Strategic Alliances

At the OEI we work side by side with the public administration, organizations, cooperation agencies, multilateral banks, educational institutions, public and private actors and institutions in the region to achieve the full and inclusive development of the Ibero-American region. Only through a joint effort can public policies be fulfilled and achieve effective and lasting results.

Publications

We produce knowledge from cooperation, experience and alliances based on our mission areas. Our website hosts more than 1,000 texts, reflections, research, studies, guides, learning resources, good practice manuals and digital files, with free access and in Spanish and Portuguese.
